TP-1 Based Standard Programs – Dwellings

Replacement Cost - Coverage “A”

TP1 based program provides a basis for insuring farm and non-farm risks with the capability of providing from basic perils actual cash value coverage to special perils coverage on a replacement cost basis. A wide variety of optional coverages is available.

Many property types are insurable under the TP1 package program. The rating class is determined by matching condition and occupancy with underwriting guidelines.

There is no automatic coverage for detached structures on any TP1 based policy. Only buildings scheduled on the policy are covered.

Preferred Farm Program

Many large farms contain unique characteristics that are not always addressed in standard rating situations. These unique characteristics include:

- Substantially better than average spread of risk
- Economies of operation that allow for better than average maintenance
- Improved monitoring of the premises through near constant on-site personnel

Eligibility: In addition to the regular underwriting guidelines of the standard program, risks written in this program would be those exhibiting the following characteristics:

1. The farm must be owner occupied
2. Farm operations must be on a full-time basis.
3. Farm personal property inventory should exceed $300,000.
4. The owner must have proven management experience in farm operations.
5. Condition of the premises should reflect the ability to maintain the property in above average condition.
6. There must be a willingness and ability to prevent hazardous conditions, and correct hazardous or unsafe conditions if detected.
7. The spacing of farm buildings should provide for good dispersion of the total risk.
8. The majority of the farm buildings should qualify for and be written in the G1 or G2 building classification.
9. The dwelling should qualify for and be written in the A1 or A5 classification.
10. A willingness to work with Woodland Mutual staff on an annual basis to attempt to minimize hazards.

Coverages: The Preferred Farm Program is a subset of the regular farm package program, providing preferred rating for the large farms that meet the program qualifications. The TP1 policy forms provide the coverage basis for risks participating in the program. As such, all the policy forms, coverages, and optional coverages contained in the Standard Farm program are used and available in the Preferred Farm program.

Rating: Woodland Mutual uses a simplified rating method for the township mutual coverages. The statewide package rates and premiums are developed in a standard manner. Due to the characteristics of properties eligible for the program, additional credits may be available for the statewide package carrier. Call Woodland for assistance in quoting a Preferred Farm Package risk.

Application: In Vector use Preferred Farm Policy application.

Policy discounts are available on automobile policies with the following companies as well as discounts on certain Woodland policy types:
